Resource Guide Families of Children with Down Syndrome

About This Guide

Resources are important for everyone, but they are especially important for families of children with Down syndrome. At the Down Syndrome Program, we understand that navigating this system can be tough. We made this guide to help families learn about services and programs that can support their child's health and well-being from birth to transition to adulthood. We encourage you to read this guide and talk to your providers!

Down Syndrome Organizations

National Down Syndrome Congress (NDSC)

781-221-0024 | www.ndsccenter.org

Provides information, advocacy and support about all aspects of life for people with Down syndrome and an optional phone call from a First Call parent.

National Down Syndrome Society (NDSS)

1-800-221-4602 | www.ndss.org

Dedicated to being the national advocate for the value, acceptance, and inclusion of people with Down Syndrome.

Northern New England Down Syndrome Congress (NNEDSC)

603-479-1589 | www.nnedsc.net

A chapter of the National Down Syndrome Congress and an affiliate of the National Down Syndrome Society. This is a great resource for information and support for families throughout northern New England! As a member, you can apply for a support grant to help the costs of activities and medical expenses.

Massachusetts Down Syndrome Congress (MDSC)

1-800-664-MDSC (6372) | www.mdsc.org

The premier resource hub for Down Syndrome information, advocacy, and networking in Massachusetts. Get connected to local support groups, attend annual conferences, and explore the various opportunities for families to gather! Check out the Parents' First Call Program, which is a volunteer network of parents who are available as a resource for new families. Each new family gets a free one-year membership, a new parent package, and a phone call from a First Call parent.

Research

LuMind Foundation

508-630-2177 | www.lumindfoundation.org

Dedicated to stimulating research and developing new treatments to improve cognition for people with Down Syndrome.

Down Syndrome Research Foundation

604-444-3773 | www.dsrf.org

Dedicated to bridging research and practice for Down syndrome education. Researchers work with families and professionals to study how people with Down syndrome learn and to create education programs.

Global Down Syndrome Foundation

303-321-6277 | www.globalsyndrome.org

Dedicated to improving the lives of people with Down syndrome through research, medical care, education and advocacy.

Clinical Trials on Down Syndrome

www.clinicaltrials.gov

Provides patients, families, doctors, researchers, and the general public with information about clinical studies on Down syndrome.

DS-Connect: The Down Syndrome Registry

www.dsconnect.nih.gov

Helps to link people with Down syndrome to doctors and scientists working on research to improve their health and quality of life.

Healthcare and Social Services

Medicaid: MassHealth/CommonHealth

1-888-665-9993 | www.mass.gov/MassHealth

MassHealth pays for healthcare for certain low- and medium-income people. Some families qualify for MassHealth Standard, while other families whose income or resources are above the limits of MassHealth Standard may be eligible for CommonHealth. CommonHealth charges a premium for MassHealth through a sliding fee based on income and family size. At age 18, all individuals with Down syndrome who are eligible for SSI are automatically enrolled in MassHealth.

MassHealth Standard/CommonHealth Premium Assistance (MSCPA)

1-800-862-4840

Once enrolled in MassHealth, a family can get help from MSCPA. MSCPA reimburses the working parent for his/her share of the premium for employer-based private health insurance. The reimbursement helps to maintain health coverage for family members who are not covered by MassHealth. The private insurance coverage also remains the primary insurer for the child with disabilities.

Supplemental Security Income (SSI)

1-800-772-1213 | www.ssa.gov/applyfordisability

Provides monthly cash benefits and automatic MassHealth health insurance coverage for a child with special medical needs. Families with low to middle income and limited resources may be eligible for SSI. Eligibility for children under 18 is based on their parents income/assets. At age 18, all individuals with Down syndrome are eligible for SSI based on their own personal income/assets.

Early Intervention

1-800-905-TIES (8437) | www.massfamilyties.org

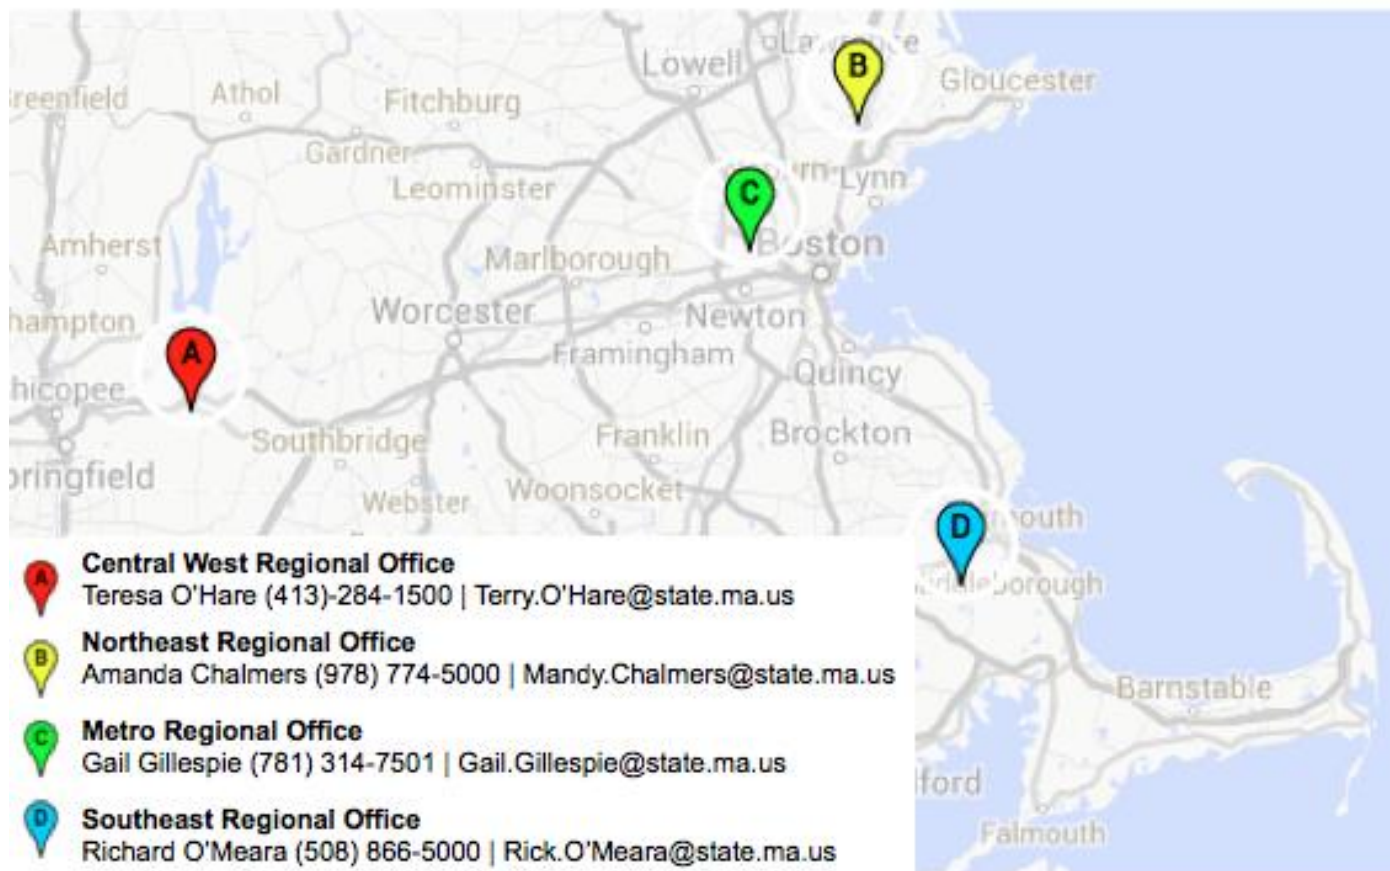

EI is part of Family Ties and the Massachusetts Department of Public Health. It is a MUST program that offers family-centered services to help children with developmental delays and disabilities, from birth to three years old. These services can include physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, social and educational services, family counseling, assistive technology, and transition services.

Health Care Guidelines for Children with Syndrome

The American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) has developed a special guide to help parents and families of children with Down syndrome. This document focuses on medical topics that affect physical health. Other issues can affect social and school success. While these issues may not require doctors or other medical resources, they are still important issues for children with Down syndrome.
