What to bring to the hospital for your baby's first operation: a mom's recommendations

Amber, the mother of a baby with hypoplastic left heart syndrome who was treated at Boston Children's, helped create this list: ☐ 12 x 12 blanket: "We had a small square blanket for Clothes that are appropriate for the season in our baby, and the nurses used it all the time. It was a Boston: It can get very cold in the winter and very nice way to cover her since she couldn't wear clothes. warm in the summer, and sometimes the weather I recommend bringing three in case they get dirty." shifts dramatically from one day to the next. To be on the safe side, expect freezing cold snowy days in the ☐ Baby-receiving blankets: "They are prettier than the winter and hot humid days in the summer. hospital blankets, softer and more personal. Once our baby was doing better, the nurses would cover her ☐ Comfortable blanket bed with the receiving blanket and then lay her on Comfortable pillow: "Sometimes the only way to it. Then, they would cover her with the smaller 12x12 escape from the stress is to try to sleep. A bad pillow or swaddle her. While all of the other moms are at will not help the situation. I know it sounds silly, but home placing their baby in the nursery they prepared bringing a comfy pillow is something I wish I had for them, we heart moms need to make a nursery out thought of." of a hospital room. It was nice to see the things we had been given by loved ones wrapped around our baby." "These ideas may seem frivolous compared ☐ Baby-wearing gear: "A great way to calm fussy babies to the idea of having a child with major and promote bonding! The Moby Wrap is great, cardiac issues, but the day in and day out especially for small newborns that love to be held!" of hospital life can wear on you in ways that you never imagined. Anything that can Books, magazines make life a little more bearable can only Bouncy seat: "To help with reflux issues or to help help you and your baby." — Addie's parent calm a fussy baby." Bottles/nipples: "The hospital provided bottles and nipples, but I wanted to use the kind I had at home. Create a Care Page or Caring Bridge Page so you It never occurred to me to bring my own or buy can more easily communicate with family and friends. some. If you want your baby to use a specific bottle-They can also be used as a journal for yourself. Caring nipple combo, bring your own." Bridge is available in English and Spanish. Breastfeeding pillow: "This makes nursing or bottle-Egg crate mattress: "I think we spent three weeks feeding your baby easier and more comfortable in the sleeping in a chair. Bringing an egg crate mattress hospital. My Breast Friend Pillow provides more back made a huge difference." support for mom." Going-home outfit: "You'll want to take a ton of Camera: "I wish I had taken a picture of our baby with all of her nurses. They were all a blessing to us and ☐ Measuring spoons: "We stayed in Boston for a will forever be part of her story." week after discharge and needed to measure her Car seat: "To leave the hospital in and to use for car formula. We used a medicine cup, and it was not seat test before discharge." easy. Having a real tablespoon and teaspoon would have been wonderful."

Chap stick: "It can feel very dry in the hospital."

□ Name and phone number for preferred pharmacy near your home	down and would always be looking through it. You feel like you have some control if you write things down, and I felt like I was somehow helping. Also, if you keep a diary, it can be a release to express emotions, and it can help later on when you look back at what you have been through."
☐ Name and contact information for your pediatrician
Name and contact information for your local cardiologist (if needed).
Names and contact information of people you can ask for help: "Here's some ideas of things to ask for help with: grocery shopping, caring for your other children, cooking meals, checking home for mail or security, cleaning and laundry, making or canceling appointments, making phone calls, driving or helping	Slip-on shoes: "You lie down and get up so often, who wants to fiddle with laces?"
	☐ Small cooler with ice pack: "You may not always have immediate access to a refrigerator for pumped breast milk, especially in the middle of the night!"
with transportation, caring for pets, staying with you at the hospital and staying at the bedside so	Small stuffed animals: "The nurses will use them to prop up tubes, arms, legs—and even your baby."
that you can take a break." Pictures of family: "To post in room or on crib."	Socks and hats: "Calories are preserved by keeping the heat in."
Planner or diary: "A planner is always nice to document your child's overall health each day and track when dosages and medicines changed or stopped. You think	☐ Two-piece pajamas for your child: "Pajamas with snaps and no feet. NO ZIPPERS! The lines and tubes will make zippers and footed jammies impossible."
you will remember, but you are so nervous. I wrote it all	☐ Wet wipes